Many Conferences With Employes Are Called.

Chicago, March 11. — Virtually all the larger western railroads today had swing into line with the eastern railroads and were taking steps to bring about reductions in the war time wage scale of unskilled employes.

The reductions would be urged, railroad officials said, to keep the roads out of bankruptcy, and enable them eventually to reduce traffic rates which now were said to be "higher than the public can bear."

At the same time, Request is therefore made for your concurrence in the minimum rate of thirty cents per hour, effective as of the trace and the public and the same time wage taking steps to bring about reductions in the war time wage scale of unskilled employes.

This will serve to advise that the management will meet any representatives of its employes of the reservatives of its employes of the reservatives of its employes of the reservatives of its employer of the rates as may be agreed upon in negotiation to be hased upon and applied at various points subject to the cost of living and in conformity with rates paid for like service in other industries. This will serve to advise that the management will meet any representatives of its employes of the classes named at Topeka, Kan, at 10 a.m. Thursday, March 24th, for the purpose of conference as required by Section 301 of the Transportation Act.

Rep. Knudson Thinks He Can Be of Greater Service to Kansas on His Rawlins County Farm-He Opposed Passage of Consolidation Bill.

Representative P. T. Knudson of Rawlins county, is disgusted with the Kansas legislature and wants to resign as a law maker. Just before adjournment Thursday evening Knudson sent to the speaker a written request to be excused for remainder of the session. Knudson's action is attributed to opposition to administration methods which forced passage of the agricultural consolidation bill which he declared was a measure to build a political machine in forced passage of the agricultural con-solidation bill which he declared was a measure to build a political machine in he state department.

He Is Disgusted With Them. To friends Knudson is said to have expressed the thought that the legislature is giving too much attention to politics and not enough to the interests of the state. He was one of the most bitter opponents of the consolidation bill which passed the house Thursday and is now in the senate agricultural committee.
